Pioneer Growers Plan Six Percent Annual Dividend

The Board of Directors of Pioneer Growers Cooperative voted June 21 to pay members the usual six percent dividend on their investment amounting to $45,458.86, according to E. A. McCabe, Executive Vice-President.

Pioneer Directors voted, in addition, to retire certificates of investment and savings which accrued to the grower members and patrons in the amount of $384,440.83. This will make a total cash payment of $429,999.79 to be placed in the hands of Pioneer's 35 grower members and patrons at the end of the 1956-57 season which is June 30. This return to its members and patrons was made, said McCabe, in spite of the fact that the amount of the dividend was reduced due to adverse weather conditions throughout most of the season, and several grower members did not fare too well in their crops. But the cooperative's marketing and processing operations were carried on a profitable basis, McCabe added.

The cooperative has paid a six percent dividend on its investment since a charter was granted for its operation in 1950. Good season or bad, and has never failed to make a profit, McCabe stated. The Pioneer Cooperative handles between 20 to 22 per cent of the entire tonnage in the Glades area.

Capital improvements amounting to approximately $100,000 were also made at the beginning of the growing year of 1956-57. The cooperative has packed 20,000 square feet of packinghouse space to the extent of $100,000 and has a railroad siding capacity to 56 from the former 32.

M McCabe stated that 14 of the 35 grower members of the Co-op are still members, and the total membership is 23. The other 12 are patrons. Walter Schaefer is president of the Co-op, with McCabe Executive Vice-President and Frank C. McCoy Secretary-Treasurer. Other directors are: James A. Ball, Jr., Arthur Wells, Bob Appleton, of Pahokee, P. D. Seyler, and Mrs. J. H. Chambliss.

Exchange Student Visits FFA Here

An exchange student between the Young Farmers Clubs of Great Britain and New Zealand, Tom, 24, visited the Belle Glade FFA Chapter here this week.

A member of the Young Farmers Club of Great Britain since 1946, Tom, who is 24 years old and has been a club secretary and vice chairman of County Federation and is now working on his father's farm in England, has a number of awards and a flock of 1,000 poultry. He has had experience in dairy farming, beef farming, pigs, sheep and poultry.

The Garold McKee family served as hosts for the student and provided an interesting tour of the Glades farming area including the Wedgworth farms where dairy beds were being prepared, special equipment used in the area and an FFA project of Jerry McKee, local FFA member. He also enjoyed his first plane ride and an aerial view with George Wedgworth. At the home of Mrs. Ruth Wedgworth Monday night, Tom showed slides of his homeland and in turn was shown slides of farming operations here. He also had a brief visit with Dad Evans, also from Wales.

When asked how he liked Belle Glade, Tom said, "I have enjoyed my stay here better than my other places visited here, and added, "It reminds me of my home in many ways. He was accompanied to Ft. Pierce Wednesday morning by Ag teacher Sam Lovell and Mrs. Lovell. From there he will visit other FFA chapters in Florida.

Earwood Cleared; Clark Hearing Set For July 8 In $25,000 Damage Suit

A $25,000 damage suit brought by Michael Farrington, former negro janitor of Lake Shore Elementary School here, was heard June 21 before Judge D. Culver Smith in Circuit Court at West Palm Beach.

Named as defendants in the action were Henry O. Earwood, chairman of the county school board and Belle Glade Police Lieutenant, V. R. Clark.

Farrington charged the two with false arrest, trespassing by illegal search and false imprisonment in connection with the action here on October 26, 1955.

A jury cleared Earwood of charges; Judge Smith reserved judgment on a motion for a directed verdict against Clark made by Clark's attorney, Claude Jones. The judge set July 8 for a hearing.

Malcolm Cunningham, West Palm Beach, is attorney for the plaintiff.

JOB AND WORKER

J. W. Mosley, Jr., Representative Florida State Employment Service.

Last Friday I attended a meeting of the local labor representatives of the South Florida area. At this meeting we discussed the current operations of the last year and what would be the prospects for the coming year. The consensus of the group was that next year there will be a better and bigger crop than this year, weather permitting. This trend will, of course, establish a need for more agricultural workers all over South Florida.

Remembering the serious shortage of workers experienced here at times last year it behooves all growers who probably can, to arrange for more housing. The grower should see it that the rent is at a price that a man making $40 per hour can afford to pay. We would really have been out on a limb, making $40 per hour in the spring had not excessive rain fall on the East Coast and Dade County areas made a great amount of workers available to us which we cannot expect next year.

One of the answers to the problem of labor shortage and turnover over is "On the Farm Housing." Fewer problems arise if the worker has a place to live, housed on the farm near the worker. The grower can generally successfully cope with his labor shortage on the open market if he knows a percentage of his workers will be on hand.

I therefore, recommend that serious consideration on the part of all growers be given to establishing quarters on their respective farms.

Group Dancing Slated At Elks Tent Later

Folk dancing and square dancing will be taught by Mrs. C. D. Snider at the Elks Tent, tonight, sponsored by the Lions Club. An album of records to be used for the dancing was voted to be purchased by the Elks Club Chapter.

Last week 167 boys and girls enjoyed the activities at the Elks Tent Center, which includes ping pong, pool, dancing and games. Ed Lively, exalted ruler of the Elks Club was present last week and explained rules under which the center is to be operated.

Tonight Mrs. Garold McKee and Mrs. Ted Roman will be on the committee in charge with Mrs. S. Ingram and Mrs. Paul Kirkman, mothers chapter. Elk members who will be on hand to help out, are August Kinnear, Lorenzo Kinnear and Fred Simmons.

R. O. Crosby Music Co. of Pahokee is furnishing the juke box and records for the dances.

Independence Day

On that July 4, 1776 when the Continental Congress met in Philadelphia to adopt the Declaration of Independence, America was conceived as a land in which the individual would be paramount.

We can never afford to lose sight of the fact that individual liberty and responsibility are the foundations on which our governmental system was built.

BG Group Studies Govt. Economy

The Hoover Commission recommendations before Congress were the subject of discussion at the Tuesday morning meeting of the Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce legislative action committee at the Belle Glade Coffee Shop.

Dick Murray led the discussion and pointed out that a recent national chamber of commerce analysis identified 24 specific places where the immediate adoption and implementation of Hoover Commission recommendations would make it possible to reduce federal 1958 appropriations at least $1 billion.

The committee was told of five points in the various reports by the Hoover group.

1. That Congress should go on record opposing the participation of the federal government in business type activities.
2. That the government should work for gradual liquidation of the postal savings system.
3. Require that certain direct costs be reflected in parcel post rates.
4. Strengthen the General Service Administration management of federal supply property and disposal activities.
5. The integration of certain Defense Department supply activities.

The legislative action committee has already gone on record favoring the third point above, and at Tuesday's meeting the group approved the first recommendation above.

Peanut Growers Meeting Held At Pioneer Growers

A bill has been submitted to Congress seeking to exclude the green peanut from the allotment program, he added.

Jim Fichter, district fieldman, who serves a nine county district from Okeechobee and County Agent M. U. Mounts, also attended the meeting with representatives from Belle Glade, Chosen, South Bay, Pahokee and Canal Point.

Next week the group will take up the second point. All interested persons are urged to attend.

Greene Denies All Printed Charges

Glades State Prison Farm Supervisor, C. M. Greene, replied this week to published reports that the farm was "a trap in a corrupt, inefficient manner by saying that the statements were false or exaggerated."

To the charge that the trustees were given too much freedom, Greene stated, "We're not any more lenient with trustees than we should be."

It had been hinted in the published reports that sweeping changes were being made in the code governing the farm. Greene said he had received the published rules for personnel and visiting regulations and that, "there's practically no change in the regulations whatsoever."

He went on to say he didn't know of any changes that were necessary.

"There's nothing wrong with the places the men sleep."

Relief Loans Are Declared By USDA

Palm Beach County is one of the counties recently declared eligible for relief loans by the United States Department of Agriculture, according to information made public by the Agricultural Department.

The eight counties, Dade, Broward, Palm Beach, Charlotte, Collier, St. Lucie, Martin, Indian River and Okeechobee, having been hard hit by rains earlier in the year, will become eligible for over a million dollars in federal relief loans to farmers at three per cent interest.

John S. Stewart, five-county manager of the Farmers Home Administration at Lake Worth, said loans will be made only on the basis of direct losses in crops, not expected profits or losses pertaining to other economic factors. Farmers have until December 31 to apply for loans.

The rains accounted for poor yields of productivity and consequently lost money at the markets. A complete picture of the losses in Palm Beach County and south in Florida cannot be computed at this time.

Prolific Writer Visits Glades

Verne O. Williams, Miami News Staff Writer, apparently on the impetus of "inside information" has visited the Glades recently and collected the background for what might be one of the modern "thrillers."

He notes that the legislature has recognized the need of modernization of Florida's prison system; he says there's a "stray figure" by the taxpayers; he has a villain in "Boss Greene"; he doesn't like our "30-year old" Commissioner of Agriculture; Terry Lee, Coordinator of State Institutions is on his list.

Apparently, MR. WILLIAMS was not recognized by local and Tallahassee officials for his self-analyzed importance and the staff carpenter who is his comrade. His comrade was not properly catered to by stopping everything else to give him information for which most reporters have to "dig."

Anyhow, Verne has an expansive imagination and a prolific vocabulary of euphoric combinations, and will undoubtedly be able to write his indicated here "a Marine-toughened career man" to advantage into a readable paper-back of fiction.

Loose handling of facts concerning a community and its institutions, Verne might find "Marine-toughened" citizens who are inclined to set the record straight.

Privileges Of The Press, Verne, are respected by the public in proportion to the respect accorded By The Press!

Custard Apple Days

BACKWOODS STORE
Interested in country stores? Then listen to this letter describing one of the first stores in Belle Glade. The emporium here described was located approximately where Nick Jones Bar and Hotel stood, until recently removed, across the street from the Belle Glade City Hall.

When this letter was written there were, of course no roads and Belle Glade consisted mostly of small clearings among the custard apple trees. At the time, there was only one other store, that of Mr. Badger on the north side of the canal.

This epistle was written by one of the crewmen of the dredge constructing the first lake shore levee. It is dated June 11, 1923 and carries a Chosen postmark. The writer relates that he and a friend from the dredge went to Belle Glade, where "we stuck around and killed time until after dark. We waited part of the time in a new store which seems to be a popular loafing place, mostly, I suppose, on account of the storekeeper's two pretty daughters who work there. One of them is a grass widow and has two babies. The other is one of the few single girls around the lake. There are plenty of young girls up here but nearly all are married or widowed, usually grass."

"The store was lighted by one smoky kerosene lamp. The place, like most one-horse stores is in an awful mess. The packages are all speckled by flies and cockroaches. They had sold out all their cigars, cigarettes, bread, and some other necessities of life. The baby was sitting on the counter, blissfully smashing eggs. The old man was stretched out on the counter with his much covered feet where they cut meat. About a dozen men were in there off and on, and those from the dredge were the only ones who wore shoes. The counters were so small that some had to sit on boxes and keep their feet on the floor."

The writer neglects to state whether the visit resulted in any dates with the girls, although we may assume that his object in "sticking around." However, he adds some other items of local interest:

"Belle Glade has improved a lot since I was there last, but not so much as South Bay. They have an ice plant at Belle Glade built by Captain Benjamin, but it is not operating at present, as he can not get fuel. He has been burning custard apple, but it is too wet or something, so he installed oil burners, but now can't get the oil."

Apparently construction had started at the Everglades Experiment Station for he adds: —

"The state men are now working on the experimental farm just below Wurtz's place. They have two or three buildings up already."

This is all extremely interesting, of course, but gosh, we wish he had told us how he made out with those girls at the store!

GI Widows Should Check Loan Benefits VA Says

The service-connected death of a World War II or Korean conflict veteran may entitle his widow to a GI loan, even if the veteran had obtained a GI loan before he died.

The statement was issued today by L. V. McClelland, Officer in Charge of the Veterans Administration Office in Belle Glade.

However, he added, if the widow herself is an eligible veteran, she accrues no additional GI loan rights because of her husband's death.

Widows of World War II or Korean veterans whose death was service-connected, also may obtain direct loans from VA in those areas eligible for direct loans.

Direct loans, McClelland said, are obtainable for the purchase of a home or farmhouse.

GI applications from widows, based on their husbands' death as a result of World War II service, must be made by July 25, 1958. For Korean conflict eligibility, loans must be made before February 1, 1965, McClelland said.

Complete information is available from the VA office in the Sanders Bldg., at Belle Glade.

It makes not a farthing's worth of difference to a child whether a writer's work was done a year ago or a century ago; so long as it stimulates the mind, stirs the feelings, stretches the imagination—and, furthermore, is a pleasure to read—it will be loved with uncritical devotion." — Annis Duff.

The graduation exercises, marking the end of nine weeks of "boot camp," included a full dress parade and review before military officials and civilian dignitaries.

In nine weeks of instruction, the "raw recruit" is developed into a Navy Bluejacket, ready for duty with the fleet.

Dalton L. Alford, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Alford of 1748 N.W. Avenue "C", Belle Glade, Fla., graduated from recruit training June 22, at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

At the hill country revival meeting the minister was giving it everything he had to gain some conversions. "Now, Daisy Mae," he said to one rather curvaceous prospect, "I'm going to lead you out into this stream here and wash out every spot of sin that you've got."

"Oh, parson," giggled the young girl as she stepped forward, "in that little biddy 'ole creek!"

A rifleman in Company C of the division's 34th Regiment, Hudson took part in examinations and maneuvers to determine the combat efficiency of his company's platoons. He entered the Army in March 1956 and completed basic training at Fort Jackson, S. C.

Girl Scout News

The first Girl Scout Day Camp held here closed Thursday night with a family program, in which parents were entertained. They were taken on a camp tour, shown displays of articles made and skills learned after which refreshments were served around the campfire.

The Brownie Unit which had a gypsy theme during the two weeks session displayed tambourines they had made and which were also used to sit on, name tags of melaleuca bark, bamboo vases and many other articles, and examples of lashing which the older girls had taught them. The girls presented a colorful picture in gay gypsy costumes singing songs and performing gypsy dances. Parents also enjoyed a puppet show the girls using puppets they had made at camp.

Parents of the Intermediate Units were taken on a hike where they had set up camp in a bamboo grove. On display were bamboo planters, a terrarium, aquarium and all upon. They also showed weather flags they had made and used during the camp sessions changing flags as the weather changed, and "kapor Charts" from which they learned their duties were also displayed. A puppet show, using puppets with complete bodies and operated with strings, kept the parents entertained.

Among those attending were Mrs. Fred White, who was to have directed the camp but underwent surgery two days before camp opening, and Miss Jane Towater, new executive director of the Palm-Glades Girl Scout Council, who praised the fine job which Mrs. George LeGross and staff had done. The Camp Committee of the Girl Scout Council were present also and expressed much enthusiasm over the successful camp project.

The two units enjoyed cooking during the camping sessions. The Brownies cooked "Gypsy Stew", the younger intermediates cooked "Figs in a blanket," and the older intermediates cooked "Coffee Can Stew." Other types of cooking during the sessions included baking cookies and biscuits in a reflector oven, Kabobs and cooking in foil.

The girls enjoyed a well rounded camp program and learned many new skills and crafts, songs and games and had hiking. The most important thing which they learned is how to work better and live together in harmony and working for the good of the group.

Greene pointed out that he had been charged with violation of funds at the farm and that more money was expended than should be. He stated that the prison farm asked for less money than any other state institution for the fiscal year. The amount granted was $278,475.

About $28,000 of that figure is for new equipment. He did say, however, that he didn't have enough money to hire enough guards. The pay is not attractive.

There are 26 guards for 319 inmates at the farm now. The figure remains about that number year-round.

Greene declined to say whether any legal action was planned against the Miami newspaper which published the accusations.

As to whether Greene was going to be released, he said, "I was up there (Tallahassee) last week about three days and he (Richard O. Culver, Prison Director) never indicated anything about a change." Greene has served nine years as superintendent.
